You can control your thoughts, words and actions to deal with dangerous or difficult situations.

In this workshop we distill and simplify the process of verbal self-defense for each of the most precarious situations that girls will encounter with friends, family, teachers, boyfriends, colleagues and strangers.

There are simple proven practices adapted from martial arts techniques that can help keep girls safe anywhere. The old model is to teach physical self-defense. The new model is to use verbal self-defense first to prevent a physical attack.

When you follow this peaceful system of self-protection you become able to take care of yourself in potentially dangerous or difficult situations. Your mindset, stance, words and actions create a powerful force field that fends off potential attackers.

We'll release the incredible superpowers within you so you instantly become stronger and more resilient. You'll learn how to command yourself and others without muscle or manipulation. And you'll understand how to influence people by your own actions and mindset.

Speak your mind. Stand your ground. Sing your song.™
